PETWORTH, SUSSEX.

it will do nearly so much harm as the frosts we usually have at the end of May & the first few days in June will. These, when they follow copious, warm rains do dreadful havoc.

Ah! I wrote to you yesterday with all the news I had up to then. This epistle needs must be a short one.

The first little property I had offered in the South was at Petworth & I was very much taken with it, but P is a long way off and getting to & fro would be expensive in time & money.

That was, of course, years ago.

Misses Russell are both well, I saw them yesterday evening.

Love to both, Your affectionate brother
